

1. Five digital marketing activities used by Zomato/Swiggy

1. Social Media Marketing – They use Instagram, Facebook, and other platforms to post food offers, memes, and engaging content that attracts potential users.
2. Discounts and Coupons – New-user offers and promo codes encourage people to download the app and place their first order.
3. Push Notifications – Personalized notifications about discounts, new restaurants, and popular dishes remind users to open the app and order.
4. Influencer Marketing – Food bloggers and influencers promote the app or special offers to their followers, helping reach new audiences.
5. Referral Programs – Existing users can invite friends using referral codes or links. This brings new customers while rewarding the person who made the referral.

2. Comparison of three digital marketing channels

Digital Marketing Channel	Main Advantage	Possible Drawback
Instagram Ads	Visually attractive and can target specific audiences based on interests and demographics.	Users may scroll past the ad quickly.
YouTube Influencer Marketing	Influencers can build trust and demonstrate the app to their followers.	Popular influencers can be expensive to hire.
Google Search Ads	Reaches people who are already searching for related apps or services.	Competitive keywords can make advertising costly.

3. Promotion plan for a new Flipkart feature

New Feature: “Smart Shopping Assistant”

1. I would announce the new feature through Instagram and Facebook posts with short demonstration videos.
2. I would collaborate with technology and shopping influencers to show how the feature works.
3. I would send email campaigns to existing customers explaining the benefits and providing a link to try it.
4. I would use Google Ads and SEO so people searching for smart online-shopping tools can discover the feature.

5. I would use in-app notifications to inform existing users when they open the Flipkart app.
6. I would offer a limited-time discount to encourage users to try the feature for the first time.

4. Five-step digital marketing plan for a new playlist feature

1. Create social-media buzz: Post short reels and graphics showing how easily users can create and share personalized playlists.
2. Partner with influencers: Ask music creators and influencers to make their own playlists and share them with followers.
3. Launch an email campaign: Send personalized emails introducing the feature and inviting users to create their first playlist.
4. Use in-app notifications: Notify existing users about the new feature when they open the app.
5. Start a sharing challenge: Encourage users to share their playlists with friends using a campaign hashtag and offer badges or rewards for participation.
